Before celluloid : The stroboscopic animation principle was introduced in 1833 with the phénakisticope and also applied in the zoetrope since 1866, the flip book since 1868, and the praxinoscope since 1877, before it became the basic principle for cinematography. Experiments with early phenakisticope-based animation projectors were made at least as early as 1843. Jules Duboscq marketed phénakisticope projection systems in France between 1853 and the 1890s.

Open content film Main article: Open content film An open content film is much like an independent film, but it is produced through open collaborations its source material is available under a license which is permissive enough to allow other parties to create fan fiction or derivative works, than a traditional copyright. Like independent filmmaking, open source filmmaking takes place outside Hollywood, or other major studio systems. For example, the film Balloon was based on the real event during the Cold War.<sup>15</sup>

By March 12, Cinemark, AMC and National CineMedia stocks had all fallen by over 35% since the beginning of the month.<sup>181</sup> Cineworld, the worlds second-largest cinema chain, warned on March 12, when multiple films pushed back their releases, that extended disruption and continuing falling stock could cause the company to collapse.<sup>180182</sup> In August 2020, California announced a new color-coded tier system that would allow restrictions to be lifted in specific counties based on health metrics, effective August 31.<sup>183184</sup> Cinemas would be allowed to operate at limited capacity if a county is in the red Substantial tier or better. This would scale from at 25%100 patrons whichever is smaller in red counties, to 50%200 patrons in orange Moderate counties, and 50% with no hard maximum in counties under the lowest yellow Minimal tier. The majority of the state was still in the purple Widespread tier at the onset of the system, where cinemas remained closed. These health orders can still be superseded with stricter rules by local officials.<sup>185</sup>
